FR. NOEL - THE PILGRIM'S CORNER

Our 5:30 Sunday Evening Mass

MAKING TIME AND CREATING SPACE: "CONNECTING IT ALL TOGETHER"

How busy we are as Catholics, we know that there is always time for God, no matter how cluttered and chaotic our day gets. There must be time. Not for God's sake but, for yours and mine.

No matter what we claim: where we travel or where we go for our Sunday Mass, we can always find some extra moments to pull off the road and stare into the God-drenched space. For some, finding moments is harder. But the busier we are, the more we need to withdraw awhile to remind ourselves of what is important, to keep our heads straight and pointing in the right direction.

At the very least, to drop by to the Church or to go to the Chapel spending sometime with the Lord reminds us that we do not have to be perfect, that we are not the be-all and end-all.

THE PILGRIM'S CORNER

Possibly, somebody else has all those jobs! We should, as well ask ourselves: Is maintaining a relationship with God as important as a coffee break? As important as reading the newspaper? We need not give up coffee or the paper, but if God is a genuine priority in our life, a couple of things do not really have to be done "today or else."

We offer that GIFT to you! Our Evening Mass at our Parish on Sunday at 5:30 is one of our "try-outs" as Parish to experiment change or endeavoring some new flavors for our busy Catholics. Choosing a Church or place to celebrate Mass is of some importance, too. Experimenting with time to go to Mass can be spiritually fun; perhaps our 5:30 Sunday evening Mass can be enjoyable for you, as well!

Last week was my first Mass as a celebrant of the 5:30 Evening Mass. One thing I feel about this particular Mass is that there's a taste of praying communally, a "family celebration". At this Mass, it's remarkable to see a couple of families with their kids coming from sport events; some of them they maybe dropping by the Church to see St. Isidore; to few people, maybe they feel the welcoming space in our parish; and to others perhaps, just being inquisitive of knowing that it is a different Mass atmosphere!

When gathering for communal celebration like our 5:30 pm, some of our folks feel the need of coming together as community to feel comfortable, receptive—not apprehensive, fun, engaging music, and "family, Christ-centered" message.

Our worshipping Christian community in St. Isidore is designed to nourish your families; it's not only a place or something else you go to but also a home and a family where you feel the welcoming spirit and a sense of a healthy belongingness. We are mindful we will never change the world by going to church but we can continuously be involved in changing the world and its injustice, prejudice and discrimination by being the church. We come to Church not to conceal our problems but to seek God's mercy and healing.

GOD BLESS US ALL!

DEACON BILL

bill@stidsidore.church

A DANGEROUS ROAD

In many past articles, I have mentioned that differences between Catholic teaching and Protestant teachings are not that great a divide. This is not a recant of those articles, but recognition that there are some major differences, and some that I fear are even dangerous to the Gospel of Love, and to human society. A most prominent could be the teaching on "predestination", of the Calvinists Presbyterians.

Calvin described the basis of predestination in several ways. In general he affirmed that there is no basis for election outside of God. Referring to Eph. 1.9, Calvin noted that God purposed election "in Himself," basing his decree of predestination on "nothing outside Himself (192)." Calvin attributed the salvation of the elect to God's free decision to favor them (188). He variously described this as God's "mere generosity (180, 187)," his "freely given mercy (189, 195, 211)," and the "good pleasure of His will (191; cf. Eph. 1.5)." Moreover, Calvin based the damnation of the reprobate solely in God's decision (189, 200).

I see a grave danger to human society to adopt the tenants of God's Predestination as an unquestionable law. In adopting an attitude of being predestined can lead to holding the idea that God controls everything, and the poor are poor because God wants them that way; the rich are rich because God wants it that way. I do not see that it is a "long step" to move from an ideology of predestination to an ideology of elitism; a separation from the difficulties facing others because they are by predesign or genetics, less than oneself. I see the backbone of racism and bigotry, injustice and oppression of people as taking to heart that some people are naturally superior to others and thus deserve everything they can acquire. Elitism discounts the value of the work of others who's "job" is "less important – more manual" – than one's own work. Elitism discredits the rights of others to seek the same rights and privileges they enjoy.

Of course, in today's world, we don't want to be called an "elitist" that has too many negative connotations. Instead, we tend to hide behind the rhetoric of "nationalism", "capitalism", or have "earned" our economic status. I recognize in myself a tendency to forget sometimes how much I have is related to special advantages I have received. I did not choose to be born here in the U. S., to a white middle-class family, have access to a descent education and a family that supported the value of education. Yes I believe that I worked hard to earn my paychecks, I worked hard to improve my knowledge and education, but I also see that I still owe a great deal to good fortune.

In the framework of elitism there is little room for others. Yes, there can be great philanthropy, but lacking a genuine respect for others as an equal – Look at me, I'm doing this for them! Aren't I a wonderful person? Read Matthew 6:1-4 Predestination discounts Free will and Elitism denies true Christian charity and love.

CSA MINUTE

Christian Service

This week, members of the Christian Service Coordinators Association will gather for their annual field trip, visiting Freedom House in Detroit and St. Anne de Detroit Parish.

CSA gifts support the work of parish Christian service commissions and coordinators, who ensure a full response to Catholic Social Teaching and are dedicated to carrying out the social mission of the Church. They promote and coordinate actions that eliminate the cause of human need in our society.

The annual field trip increases coordinators' awareness of the types of community outreach taking place throughout the Archdiocese, highlights best practices, and is a valuable opportunity for networking among peers.

For information about CSA-funded ministries, programs, and services, please go to aod.org.

Let us celebrate her love for all people; please remember the many families of our St. Isidore community who need your help for their next meal.

Our Pantry is low on the following:

BABY PANTRY

"Living a life of love is always a choice. We can either focus our energies on ourselves and on gaining things we don't need, or we can focus on becoming more aware of God's loving presence in our lives and on sharing the fruits of that love with others."

(Fr. Kenneth Grabner, C.S.C.)

Thought for this week:

St. Francis of Assisi: "Remember that when you leave this earth, you can take with you nothing that you have received – only what you have given."

If possible, please donate:

- Baby laundry soap
- Nutramagen formula

For everything and anything you donate, we are grateful.

STRAWBERRY PATCH

The Strawberry Festival cannot happen without the generous support of our parishioners. If you're new to the Strawberry Patch, it is similar to the Giving Tree. On each berry is listed an item needed for the Festival such as gift cards, paper products, pop or other non-perishable food item. You are invited to take one (or more if you wish), purchase the item, and return it (with the berry included) to the red bins in the gathering space. The bins will be in place until the week before the festival when the gathering space is needed for the baskets. Please return gift cards to the office rather than the bins so they don't get lost. These small items are a huge help to making the Festival a success.

Samuel warned the Israelites, "You will cry out for relief from the king you have chosen, and the Lord will not answer you in that day." What happened next?

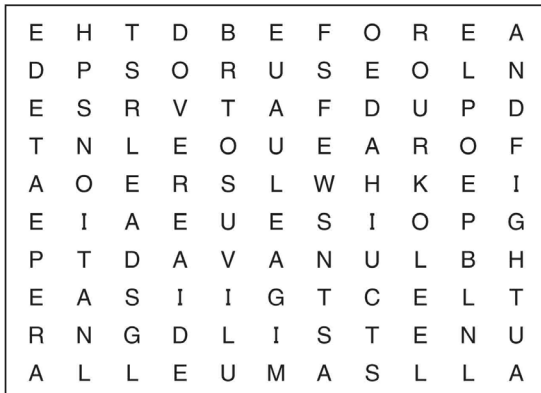

Find and circle the underlined words.

The people refused to listen to Samuel. "No!" they said. "We want a king over us. Then we will be like all the other nations, with a king to lead us and to go out before us and fight our battles."

When Samuel heard all that the people said, he repeated it before the Lord.

The Lord answered, "Listen to them and give them a king."

So all the people went to Gilgal and made Saul king in the presence of the Lord."
