FR. MARK'S MUSINGS

A few decades ago, as the commercialism of Christmas continued to grow, the phrase "put Christ back in Christmas" became popular. Back then I thought this was a very modern problem—not so! St. Francis of Assisi in 1223, inspired by his recent pilgrimage to the Holy Land, created the first nativity scene using live people and animals, "to place the emphasis of Christmas upon the worship of Christ rather than upon secular materialism and gift giving. (Quote from Wikipedia)" This dramatized that the son of God really took human flesh, and did so in the most difficult of circumstances.

St. Francis' message resonated with Christians throughout Europe, and soon manger scenes became quite popular. Today most of us have fond feelings for nativity scenes, even if they're not with live animals. Because of these fond feelings, we can get upset if anyone jars us out of our "Christmas comfort." Have you heard about what a Catholic church in Dedham, Massachusetts has just done in their nativity scene? They put the baby Jesus in a cage, and the magi behind a fence with a sign saying, "Deportation."

Pope Francis

@Pontifex

Loving God means serving our neighbor without reserve, and trying to forgive without limits.

Posted on December 7

FR. MARK'S MUSINGS

Many of us might say this is a sacrilege, but I don't think St. Francis would see it that way, nor do I believe that Pope Francis would. They would want us to look at Jesus' birth in light of what is actually happening in the world today. The child Jesus and his family were immigrants or refugees who were forced to flee to Egypt. Recall that our Pope has at least three times gone to places where desperate refugees are concentrated, and made strong statements about how the world's more prosperous nations treat migrants.

CONNECTING POINT

How can I welcome others to help them know they belong?

I love the celebration of Christmas. It is an opportunity for the Church to look like it could and should look like every weekend of the year: the parking lot is full, the sanctuary is packed full of people, everyone dresses in their best as they come to worship as a community. I see Christmas Mass as a glimpse into what our Church could look like every single week of the year. This is exciting to me. I literally can't wipe the smile off of my face on Christmas Eve.

Do I get frustrated with having to arrive at Mass an hour early? Of course I do. Do I get frustrated by getting squeezed into a pew, or worse yet, not having a seat for Mass? Of course I do. However, this is a glimpse of how our Church can look if more people were engaged in our mission which is why I am excited. This is a realization of Christ's dream for the Church, a Church bursting at the seams, a Church that can't wait to go out and change the world at the conclusion of Mass. I pray that someday the Catholic Church is as full and alive as it is on Christmas every single weekend of the year.

A friend of mine, the late Fr. Dan Hohman, co-authored a book called Radical Hospitality. In that book, he writes "Real hospitality isn't about what we do—it's about who we are." If we truly love our Church, and I know that each one of us who makes attending Church part of our weekly journey with Christ, loves the Church, then we can't help but want to share it with others. We all have loved ones that we wish attended Mass more regularly, and more importantly, had a deep-seated relationship with Christ. We all know of someone who has fallen asleep in their faith, that we pray has an awakening in their faith life. Let's allow the challenge of radical behavior that we hear from John the Baptist in today's Gospel, influence our journey to Christmas. Let's agree to be as hospitable as possible to our Christmas guests. Let's offer our warm smiles to every person we encounter and intentionally make our guests feel that they are not only welcomed here but needed here. Let's agree to welcome our guests in radical ways, so that they may be further invited into the life of our parish.

Let's show our guests who we really are this Christmas and show that we are willing to radically witness our love for Christ by our radical acts of hospitality. In doing so, I am confident that we can make all of our guests know that they belong.

—Chris

Seven Tips to Relieve Holiday Stress

In the hustle and bustle of the holiday season, sometimes we become "stressed-out." Try not to let your holiday stress make you lose focus of the real reason of Advent and Christmas. Here are some tips to help cope:

- Take calm-down breaks. Soon after you awake, close your eyes, take several deep breaths and just relax. Do this same exercise throughout the day, whenever you need it.
- Put on rose-colored glasses. When people try to push their unhealthy habits on you during the holidays, tune into their motivations. Before you get annoyed at Aunt Jane, who keeps urging you to try a piece of her apple pie, or your co-worker, Frank, who keeps trying to fill your glass with booze, step into their shoes and realize that Aunt Jane is just showing that she loves you, and Frank is merely trying to be congenial. Thank them and be grateful instead.
- Get moving. One of the best ways to overcome stress during the holidays, or anytime, is to exercise regularly.
- Go for real foods. This time of year, you'll be tempted with sugary empty-calorie treats just about everywhere you go. But to be energetic, focused and happy, it's best to eat foods that grow on trees or in the ground (vegetables and fruits), choose healthy fats (olive and flax seeds), lean protein (fish and organic chicken) and legumes, nuts and seeds.
- Take polite portions of comfort food and drinks. During the holidays it's easy to fall off the wagon and over indulge in alcohol, sugar and caffeine.
- Prepare To-Do Lists. Writing down all that you must do and/or want during the holidays will help you realized how doable your tasks are. Be realistic, and start by tackling one item from each list.
- Be generous. One of the best ways to stay calm, content and cheerful this time of year is to act generously. This doesn't have to mean you're spending a lot of money. You can be generous with your compliments. You can generously offer to do a loved one's dreaded errand.

Blessings,
- Heather

PRAYER BLANKET MINISTRY

Prayer blankets & shawls are available at no cost in the St. Isidore church office

Unconditional love always requires sacrifice. Partnership with Christ means living a life of love for others. A prayer blanket or shawl is one way to bring the loving comfort of Christ to others. "Reaching out to others takes loving time: time to talk with the lonely, frightened, worried..."

"We can become Christ for others when we allow ourselves to glimpse Christ in them. Prayer: O God of Love, help us to see Your face in the faces of others." (Elizabeth-Anne Stewart)

Know that you will bring hope and love to others when you give one of our hand-made items to a friend or relative needing comfort. Prayer blankets and shawls are available in the church office. Please include all prayer blanket and shawl recipients in your prayers.

ADORATION CHAPEL

Because of the Holidays, the Exposition and Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament will not be available on Christmas Day, December 25 or New Year's Day, January 1.

The regular schedule of every Tuesday from immediately following morning Mass through closing Benediction at 6:00 pm will resume on Tuesday, January 8. If you would like to start out the new year with a positive and spiritually rewarding commitment to the adoration of the Blessed Sacrament and would like to sign up for any time during the Tuesday exposition, or would be willing to be available as a substitute, please let us hear from you.

You can call the office at 586-286-1700 or contact Dave Bisdorf at 586-202-7000. If you are unable to commit to any time every week, please stop in whenever you can and experience this unique opportunity to spend time in His presence. Have a wonderful and blessed Christmas!

ARMCHAIR AEROBICS

Want to stay in shape? Join the Armchair Aerobics!

This is a FREE exercise program and is offered to anyone that would like to come. Join us every Monday from 8:45 – 9:45 am in the Resource Center.

(Aesop, "The Lion and the Mouse")

Please donate:

TIME FOR Love
MERRY CHRISTMAS

"When a guest is in your house, God is in your house"-A Polish saying

On the Christmas Holiday, St. Isidore has more guests than any other time of the year. This year, we are committing to welcoming all of our guests and visitors with a radical hospitality. Our parish leadership is calling each of us to be as welcoming and loving as possible.

Let us be filled with the joy of the Lord, and exercise that joy with every interaction. This may be someone's first time in Church in their life; let's greet them with open arms. It may be someone's first brave steps back into a Church after a long break; let's show them kindness and patience. Attending Mass may be a family's biggest frustration this holiday; let's make it easier on them by offering a smile and a very sincere Merry Christmas. We have the opportunity to positively influence someone's journey with Christ, let's take advantage of that opportunity.

Our faith is not meant to be between only the Lord and us, we are meant to share it with a contagious joy. Let's make Christmas 2018 an opportunity to share the greatest gift of all mankind, the joy that belongs to those who love Christ.

To assist our parish, we have a very simple Do's and Don't's section to help guide us:

Do:

- Smile (as much as possible!)
- Take parking spots in the back of the lot to make room for guests
- Welcome people around you to your parish
- Guide non-Catholics (or visitors) to where the order of the Mass can be found in the hymnal or the worship aid.
- Invite people to explore the welcome table for ways to connect with the parish.

Don't:

- Get mad if someone is sitting in your regular seat.
- Get mad if people are talking in church before Mass.
- Get mad if babies are crying.
- Get annoyed if it's hot and crowded.
- Give dirty looks to people who do not know what to do.

Presents under the Christmas tree are truly wonderful, but they can't heal a hurting marriage. Transforming your marriage into a mutually satisfying relationship is the "gift that keeps on giving." With the help of Retrouvaille, it can be done. Retrouvaille is a Christian peer ministry designed to help heal troubled marriages. This very well could be the best Christmas gift you could ever give yourself, your spouse, your children, your family and your friends!

Please pass this information on to anyone who you suspect might be a hurting couple.

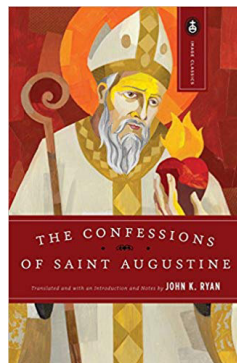

The next Retrouvaille program will begin on Friday, January 18, in Romulus, Michigan.
